JORDAN RUNNING ADVENTURE RACE

DEAD SEA LA MER MORTE

Unique and fascinating, the Dead Sea, or sea of salt in Hebrew, attracts many tourists and spa visitors each year attracted by the virtues of its mineral salts or by its historic sites. Located at an altitude of 417 meters below sea level, the Dead Sea sits at the lowest point of the earth, and has the highest salt saturation rate in the world (340 grams per liter of water, editor's note). A salinity which prevents all life in its waters and which forces any body to float on the surface. So much so that you can even read your newspaper while sitting on the water. However, it is difficult to swim in it, the density, linked to the high salt content, exerts an Archimedean thrust which makes each movement difficult

The latest information

Formalities: Valid passport (+ 6 months after the return date).

Health: No vaccine is required to date.

Time difference: + 1 hour compared to France, Belgium and Italy
2 hours from Portugal
6 hours from Argentina

Languages: Arabic (official language) and English
1 Jordanian dinar: 1 € 30 approx.

Climate during your stay: 8 to 12 degrees at night and 20 to 25 during the day.

Flight duration: +/- 5 hours (depending on the country of departure). If stopover
7 hours

Money advice: Changing money is not a problem in Jordan. Vending machines, however, are very rare (there are some at the airport). Consider changing your money as soon as you arrive at the airport.

A tip of around 10% is generally expected in restaurants frequented by Westerners. Bargaining is a must when shopping, but less fierce than in some neighboring countries.

Telephony: It is sometimes very difficult to have a connection in Wadi Rum. You have to move away from the camp sometimes to find a high point!

Conveniences: In the desert, the camps are all equipped with beds and blankets. It is therefore unnecessary to bring a sleeping bag. There are also showers and toilets.

Drinks: Drinks are not included in the package except mineral water. In the desert it is difficult to find alcohol, but in Petra and the Dead Sea you will find all kinds of drinks. For the final evening, we will find some ...
